Help Strengthen Systems that Support Children, Youth, and Families

IFN of Ontario is seeking a Child Welfare Systems & Protocol Advisor who is passionate about supporting First Nation communities in strengthening child welfare systems, advancing jurisdiction, and promoting prevention-focused, culturally grounded care. This is more than a policy role, it's an opportunity to work alongside communities to support meaningful, long-term change. Your work will help shape approaches that prioritize family, culture, and community-led solutions. If you are driven by purpose, relationships, and impact, this role offers the opportunity to contribute to work that truly matters.

What You'll Be Part Of

- Supporting First Nation communities in strengthening child welfare systems and approaches
- Contributing to the development of protocols, planning, and prevention-focused initiatives
- Working alongside leadership, social service teams, and community partners
- Supporting approaches that prioritize family, culture, and community wellbeing

What You'll Bring

- Experience in child welfare, social services, or community-based work
- Understanding of First Nation contexts, governance, and priorities
- Knowledge of child welfare legislation and policy frameworks
- Strong communication, facilitation, and relationship-building skills
- Ability to support planning, research, and systems-level work
- A genuine commitment to community-driven change

Why This Role Matters

This work supports First Nation communities in strengthening systems that impact children, youth, and families every day.

You will contribute to approaches that prioritize prevention, support families, and reflect culturally grounded care, helping communities build systems that align with their values, priorities, and jurisdiction.

How to Apply

Interested candidates are invited to submit their resume and cover letter outlining their qualifications and experience to dianemn@ifnc.ca.

COMPETITION OPEN UNTIL FILLED. Only those selected for an interview will be contacted
